

The Height is Right

Please welcome the first three contestants to our new reality game show, "The Height is Right." The rules are simple. You just go about your business way up there, hang on for your life, and hope that you don't end up collecting disability at the end of the day. There are no prizes, just plenty of close-calls.

Doesn't sound like a very good game, does it? Well, what can I say ... These folks actually put themselves in these positions, and all for what? A meager paycheck that wouldn't cover the cost of a Band-Aid, let alone a broken back?

Hey, it's your life, so if you're going to do work like this, use the right fall protection and, in the case of the last guy, appropriate scaffolding. Before you climb up without any protection, ask yourself if the job is worth dying for.

