

He Got the Point

Humm, what can I say about this one? Well, it's not every day you see an arrow sticking out of someone's melon. The photo I didn't post is of a big chunk cut out of this guy's thick skull showing how far the point went in.

Hunting is a dangerous sport. Two things I remember from taking a hunter safety course in Maine is to wear bright clothing, and ALWAYS know what you are shooting at. That rustling in the leaves could be a buck, or it could be Buck.